PROJECT

Developed frontend for a Farming management web application (React JS):

Cropaze is a modern farming management platform designed to simplify and digitize agricultural operations. It helps farmers and agribusinesses efficiently manage crops, farms, employees, attendance, and farm activities in one place. With a clean interface and smart tools, Cropaze empowers better decision-making, improves productivity, and brings technology closer to everyday farming.

AIQA Company Website – Frontend Development (Next JS):

Worked on the frontend development of the AIQA company website, focusing on building responsive, user-friendly interfaces that reflect the company's brand and professionalism. Implemented modern UI layouts, ensured cross-browser compatibility, and optimized the website for performance and accessibility while collaborating with designers and backend teams.
